Council Calls Parking Law Violator

Brother Leo Lecture Advertisements To Be Distributed

The Executive Council this week invoked its police authority for the first time this semester.

Ed McMahon was cited to appear before the council as an alleged violator of the anti-parking ordinance, in its weekly meeting. McMahon, who has recently been in an automobile accident while traveling south to the Loyola game, appeared before the body and stated that because of physical injuries he had no choice but to park his car in the restricted area. He was dismissed when the circumstances were revealed. Lew Baysinger was specifically appointed to tag all future violators of the ordinance.

Ed McMahon

A committee, composed of John Reilly, Wyman Riley, Lawrence Mana, and Ken Coveney was appointed to arrange for distribution of cards advertising the Brother Leo lecture. Plans have been made for distribution of tickets through clubs on the campus, Sherman & Clay, and the Community Playhouse. Besides which each member of the Ex Council will be given a certain number to dispose of. A debate between Wyman Riley, COLLEGIAN editor, and Al Quittman, news editor,editor, ensued when the latter proposed a motion to change the date of student body elec-

Rally Dance Tickets On Sale Today

Dance Scheduled for Friday, Nov. 12

Tickets for the annual Saint Mary's-Santa Clara rally dance will go on sale today, according to an announcement by Warren Jenkins, senior class president. The dance is scheduled for Friday, November 12, at 7:45 in Madigan Gymnasium.

Among the featured entertainers will be "Jumbo" Kennedy, 6 ft. 4 inches tall, 465 pounds in weight, and claimant for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, who will sing and entertain. Judge Joseph Kennedy, the perennial freshman, will be a featured speaker, it was announced. Kennedy has been a speaker at past rallies.

Saint Peters Glee Club will also be on the program.

Jack Flanagan and Joe Alioto will headline the campus entertainers with vocal selections. Alioto sings regularly with the Salesian Boys Club and has appeared on previous rally programs.

"Slip" Madigan, varsity coach, has been invited, Jenkins said.

Tickets will be 50 cents for men with ladies admitted free. Professional music will be supplied by either Nat Buckingham or Nat Thomas.

Women of the Newman Club of the University of California have been invited.

Ex-Collegian Editor Enters Priesthood Next April

Edward Moss, a graduate of the College with the class of 1932 and formerly editor of the COLLEGIAN, will be ordained a priest on April 6, 1938, according to word received on the campus this week. Moss recently received the order of Deacon at Saint Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park, where he will be ordained next year.

Another graduate of the college who is studying for the priesthood, and who will soon receive the order of subdeacon, is Joseph O'Reilly. O'Reilly was formerly Grand Knight of the campus council of Knights of Columbus.

Salesian Boys Club Entertains Campus Knights

Dante Council of the Knights of Columbus and the Salesian Boys Club were hosts Wednesday night to the campus Knights in San Francisco.

First part of the evening was spent at the Salesian Boys' clubrooms in Saint Peter's and Paul's Church where a program was presented by club members starting at 7:30.

Later the local Knights went to chambers of Dante Council, assisted at the meeting of the San Francisco Knights, and were entertained by moving pictures and other features. Refreshments were served after the program.

Committee in charge of arrangements for Dante Council was composed of alumni of the College, with Thomas Cara as chairman. Others of the group were Sylvester Andriano, Ernest Raffetto, Francis Passalacqua, and Stephen Mana.

Harry Hooper, acting lecturer during the absence of Dan O'Hara, led the local council.

Yearlings Elect Class Officers

Skibinsky Chosen President

Bob Skibinsky, freshman football player and honor student was elected president of the class of '41 at the first meeting of the class held yesterday.

Other men elected to office were Joe McGrath, honor student and guard on the freshman eleven, vice-president; Bill Egan, secretary; Mike Mazaika, frosh gridder and honor student, treasurer; Joe Nuss, Leo Haggerty, and Walt Calcagno, executive council.

Calcagno is an honor student, freshman debater, and a member of the COLLEGIAN staff.

Other men running for office were Jack Flynn and Lester Dole for president; Tim Dempsey and Homer Bean, vice-president; Ambrose Regalia, Walt Weber, Bill Newton, and Adolph Vicente, secretary.

Contestants for the office of treasurer were Murray Brennan, Mike Klotovich, Joe Englert, and Howard.

Executive Council aspirants were James Stewart, Murphy, Bardenheir, McEntorffer, Fernandez, John Ryan, and Don Kramer.

Three Productions Planned by College Dramatists

Arrangements are being made this week to procure the short play "Laziest Man in the World," in which Ray Cleone, campus comedian, is to have the leading role, according to William Simon, debate coach.

Three plays by Willis O'Brien of the San Francisco Chronicle, who spoke on the campus last year at the press convention, have also been obtained with rehearsals beginning immediately, Mr. Simon said.

Casts will be completed during the week.

Mr. Simon also stated that rehearsal will definitely begin this week on the pantomimic farce, "Gridiron Heroes." Those having leading roles in the play are Dick Hilken, John Saunders, Ray Cleone, and Don Miller.

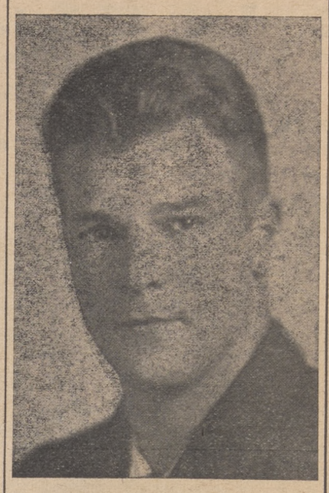

"Actual work in dramatics this semester has been delayed by conflicting programs," Mr. Simon said, "but for the remainder of the term rehearsals will be staged often during the week to prepare for presentation of the plays in the early part of next semester."

Student Campaign Uses Collegian As Best Medium

Furthering activities of the student campaign committee, the COLLEGIAN is being mailed to librarians in 80 Catholic high schools in Far Western states as well as to approximately 25 public libraries in California, it was made known by the public relations office yesterday.

The move was started last year by Tom Foudy, former publicity head, Havelock Hunter, department manager, said.

Included among the libraries that are now on the COLLEGIAN mailing list are: Crockett, Oakland, San Francisco, Davis, San Jose, Red Bluff, Martinez, Salinas, Tracy, Yuba City, Hayward, Monterey, Nevada City, Auburn, Chico, Roseville, Vallejo, Stockton, Livermore, Oroville, Orland, Watsonville, Madera, and Dunsmuir.

Joe Hurley
Injured in the Gonzaga game, who returned to the campus this week.

Hurley Returns To Campus From Hospital

Joe Hurley, star Gael end, the only Madigan-coached Saint Mary's football player ever to receive a broken bone in a regular game, was transferred to the campus infirmary this week from Providence hospital in Oakland.

His leg was broken in one of the first plays of the Gonzaga game at Kezar three weeks ago. Hurley was immediately removed to Providence. There the doctors found that the bone had received a spiral fracture.

In the past three weeks Hurley has had three operations on his leg. The bone is now held together by wire, and physicians say that his recovery is now simply a matter of time. He will be in the infirmary at least two weeks.

Alumnus Serving As Missionary In Shanghai War

Ten young Pacific Coast priests, including one alumnus of Saint Mary's, are ministering to some 8000 refugees and wounded in beleaguered Siccawei Mission in the Shanghai war zone.

The Reverend Wilfred Lesage of Los Angeles is the college alumnus in the group. Five of the priests are from San Francisco and the rest are from other Coast points. Father John J. O'Farrell, author of "Catholic Shanghai," is of this number.

Relatives have received no word from the young priests, but believe them to be safe.

Junior, Frosh Classes Lead Honor Roll

Two Seniors, Junior Make Record Of Straight 'A'

With the junior and freshman classes heading the list, the honor roll for the first quarter of the fall semester was released by the office of the recorder yesterday.

Both juniors and freshmen placed six men on the first honor roll, followed by the seniors with five. No members of the sophomore class were on the first honor roll.

The second honor roll was also headed by freshmen, who had 17 men on the list. They were followed by seniors with 15, sophomores with 9, and juniors, 8.

Perfect records of straight "A" were made by William Bourne, John Sullivan, and Leo Pedemont.

Following are those listed on the first honor roll, with averages of 2.5 grade points or better:

Seniors—William Bourne, James Brady, Lynn Hull, Lawrence Mana, John Reilley.

Juniors—Algeo Brill, Joseph Donnelly, William Glackin, William Judd, Leo Pedemont, John Sullivan.

Freshmen—Robert Bazzanella, Brother Brendan, Brother Damian, Brother Francis, Brother T. Jerome, Brother Peter.

On the second honor roll, with averages of 2.0 to 2.49 grade points are:

Aptitude Test Date Announced by Local Zoology Head

The American Medical Association's pre-medical aptitude test will be given December 3 by Dr. A. S. Campbell of the zoology department, it was announced yesterday. Exact time will be announced later.

One dollar fee must be paid before taking the examination, which is for upperclassmen only.

Those planning to take the test are requested to turn in their names to Dr. Campbell within the next week.

Vincentians to Make Weekly Collections On Campus for Poor

Regular weekly collections of old clothes will be made by members of the Saint Vincent de Paul Society, it was decided at a meeting of the society this week.

The collections will be in charge of Ernie Jorge, senior football player and chairman of the salvage bureau of the society.

All clothes gathered by the group will be sent to Saint Patrick's Shelter in San Francisco, operated by the society for destitutes.

Other regular work of the society on the campus consists of two catechism schools, one at Redwood Canyon and the other at Moraga. Members teach four classes of pupils ranging from 8 to 16 years of age.

The Saint Vincent de Paul Society is one of the most active groups on the campus, confining itself to works of mercy and charity exclusively.

Lack of Business May Force Closing Of Local Barber Shop

Lack of business was given as the reason for possible closing of the campus barber shop next semester, it was indicated yesterday by E. R. McGinnis, manager of the shop.

"Unless the shop is patronized by a reasonable number of students, thus assuring sufficient revenue to operate, it will be necessary to discontinue this student service," McGinnis stated.

The shop is open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Should a dance or some other occasion warrant it, the shop will also be open evenings, McGinnis said. The shop also is operated on Saturday.

A barber shop has been operated on the campus since the College was established here in 1928.

Debaters Asked To Compete At Catholic U

Gael debaters have received an invitation to meet a debate team of Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C., according to William Simon, debate coach.

As yet, no definite announcement has been made concerning the annual debate tour.

Saint Mary's debaters met Catholic University of America last spring while on tour in the East. Members of the team were Carl Schuck, now studying law in Los Angeles, and Joseph Alioto, former student body president and now a law student at Catholic University.

Bourne Winner of Sullivan Contest

To Represent College In Finals

William Bourne, senior honor student and athlete, was chosen to represent Saint Mary's College at the annual Sullivan Oratorical Contest, as a result of the decision rendered at the trials held in the lounge last Wednesday evening. Bourne is now eligible to compete for the fifty dollar cash prize to be given to the contest winner on the second Tuesday in November. Runner-up to Bourne was Lawrence Mana, student body president.

William Bourne

The elimination contest was close all the way, and it was after much heated discussion by the judges that the decision was finally given in favor of Bourne by a 2-to-1 vote.

Bourne, first speaker, convincingly stressed the point of the greatness and intelligence of the framers of the Constitution and it was because of their sound counsel that it is now so full of logic and wisdom. "The Constitution stands as a beacon of light, guiding the people in their desires," stated Bourne.

Construction of Sound-Proof Booth Being Planned

Senior Class Sponsors Project With Aid of Father Schmitt

Motion pictures will be made available to the student body starting next Thursday in D201 through the efforts of the senior class, according to an announcement by Warren Jenkins, senior class president.

Father Leo Schmitt, who recently showed pictures on the campus, was instrumental in obtaining pictures for the class.

In order to facilitate screening of the pictures and back-tracking of sound, a sound-proof booth will be constructed in D201 where the pictures are to be exhibited.

Admission to shows, which will be approximately two hours in length, will be by monthly pass only, according to Jenkins. The pass will also entitle the bearer to attend any other functions, forensic and otherwise, that will be given by the senior class, it was stated.

Shows will consist of one feature picture, to be selected by a committee to avoid obtaining any "stale" pictures, supplemented by shorts.

Brother Patrick, when approached regarding the showing of pictures, stated: "It has been a long hope with me that some day pictures could be shown on the campus for a nominal cost. I have always been in favor of the idea, but up until this year, there has never been a class that would undertake the venture."

Jenkins announced that faculty aid might be forthcoming to aid the showing of pictures were it difficult to get the project started.

Selection of D201, it was announced, was made because of its excellent acoustic properties. Difficulty was encountered recently when pictures were shown in the gymnasium because of back-tracking of sound.

APGU Protests Cut System

Honor Society Sends Letter to Recorder

Formulation of a letter to Brother James, dean-recorder of the College, protesting the present cut system, occupied the largest part of the APGU meeting held yesterday.

In the letter the society requested that upper division honor students who have maintained a 2.0 grade point average for a period of four semesters be exempted from the present cut rule.

The text of the letter follows:

"When in the course of the academic life, true scholarship is subject to penalties, it becomes evident that an expression of those students interested should be forthcoming.

"As the honor organization interested primarily in the scholastic activities of the school, the APGU hereby petitions the Office of the Recorder to abolish the present cut rule system for all upper division students who through a period of at least four semesters have shown that they need no police system to force them to secure their education."

The honor society also discussed a sales campaign for the Brick Pile, student magazine, now sponsored by the APGU.

Faculty, Alumni Committees To Meet Tuesday

To coordinate plans relative to the Diamond Jubilee celebration, a meeting of the faculty committee and alumni representatives has been called at the Palace Hotel next Tuesday.

The meeting was arranged by Brother Albert, president of the College, and C. Wesley Davis, executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

Brother Albert, Professor James L. Hagerty, and Havelock Hunter will represent the faculty at the conference.

Alumni members to attend are Andrew F. Burke, president of the Alumni Association; C. Wesley Davis, executive secretary of the group, and Robert J. McAndrews, former director of public relations here, now associated with the NBC.

College Record In World War Reviewed

Saint Mary's Active In Giving Aid During War Time

Saint Mary's furnished 856 men to the service, including 200 commissioned officers in the army or navy.

Saint Mary's maintained a unit of the SATC in which 200 students were enrolled.

Fifteen Saint Mary's men gave their lives while in the service of their country.

Saint Mary's furnished speakers and entertainers to assist in the patriotic propaganda of the Committee on Information.

Even after peace was declared students of Saint Mary's contributed more than 3000 to the war workers' campaign.

Saint Mary's was one of the first American colleges to put scholarships at the disposal of the government for the benefit of disabled soldiers.

Saint Mary's College was one of the first educational institutions in the Far West to offer to cooperate with the government in establishing facilities for training of young men to fill commissions in the United States Army.

Brother Gregory, president of the College, made an offer of the institution to Newton D. Baker, secretary of war. Nine Saint Mary's students attended the SATC camp held during the summer of 1917.

With resumption of school, 200 students were inducted into the United States Army on the morning of October 1, 1917. The athletic field of the old "brick pile" was used for a drill ground.

Official

The date of the Oliver Essay Contest has been changed to Friday, November 12. New entrants may see Brother Henry for details.

Instructors Aid War Effort by Courses Offered

Fifteen instructors at Saint Mary's during the great war were engaged in teaching various phases of military science, according to records of the time. Those named included:

Brother U. Lewis, F.S.C., M.A., academic director and instructor in mathematics.

Brother Z. Leo, F.S.C., L.H.D., director of war issues and instructor in English.

Brother P. Justian, F.S.C., instructor in physics and biology.

Brother V. Leo, F.S.C., M.A., instructor in surveying.

Jeremiah J. Maher, M.D., post physician and instructor in sanitation and hygiene.

Brother Agnon, F.S.C., instructor in map reading and navigation.

Albert F. Van Houtte, Ph.D., instructor in military law and practice.

Brother V. Ralph, F.S.C., instructor in chemistry.

Brother W. Gabriel, F.S.C., instructor in war issues and economics.

Brother Vantasian, F.S.C., instructor in accounting, transportation, and commerce.

Frank L. Dodd, instructor in statistics and business management.

Brother N. John, F.S.C., instructor in French.

Frederick Schorcht, instructor in group singing.

'Psychology of Saints' Brother Leo Topic

Under the patronage of the Catholic Truth Society, Brother Leo, professor of literature, will speak on "Psychology of the Saints" on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Paulist Hall, California Street and Grand Avenue, San Francisco.

The lecture is the first of a series of six monthly talks.

Fifteen Men Listed Among War Dead

Fifteen Saint Mary's men died while enlisted in the armed forces of the United States during the World War. Several of the men were killed while in action on the western front, while others were claimed by the influenza epidemic which swept the country during the war.

James E. Shiels '11 was the first Saint Mary's man to die in the service of his country. Shiels died in May 1918, while awaiting transfer to the European front. At the time of death he was a corporal in the regular army.

T. Arthur King '11, killed in action on the western front, July 29, 1918. He served with Company G of the 18th Infantry.

Sydney H. Lyall, undergraduate, enlisted in the United States Navy, died in San Francisco October 30, 1918, a victim of the influenza epidemic.

William J. Hanly, lieutenant of Engineers, killed in action twenty-four hours before the armistice was signed. Hanly had been granted leave but had traded

Photograph Contest Will Close Next Semester

Photographs are being collected by Herschel Smythe, photography editor of the junior class publication, the Gael, and will be entered in a contest which will end some time next spring.

Many valuable awards will be given in the contest, which will be superior to the prizes given in last year's contest, Smythe said.

"We request students to turn in any pictures having to do with campus life. The lack of an expensive camera should not hold the student back, for the last contest was won with a picture from an ordinary 'Brownie'," Smythe stated.

Besides getting valuable prizes, winners of the contest are kept in contact with different camera companies and have a chance for positions with these concerns after graduation, Smythe indicated.

Armistice Day Services Scheduled Here

Saint Mary's War Dead Will Be Honored Thursday

Students, war veteran alumni and College administrators will join in commemorating Saint Mary's men who died in service overseas nineteen years ago, in joint services on the campus, Thursday morning.

Solemn Requiem Mass will be said by the Reverend Thomas J. O'Connell, pastor of Saint Augustine's Church, Oakland, as part of an Armistice Day service. Assisting as sub-deacon will be Father Joseph I. Manning, student chaplain, and Father Albert T. Duffy, of the College faculty, deacon, it was announced today.

Among those invited to attend the services by Brother Albert, President, are widows of war veterans and Saint Mary's war veterans.

An academic procesion will precede the Mass. The entire student body will attend.

The Mass will be a "Missa Cantata" and will be celebrated in the black

English Instructor Representative At Convention

Brother Cyprian, English instructor and moderator of publications, will be the Saint Mary's representative at a meeting of English teachers of Bay region colleges to be held at the University of California on November 6.

Professor Hardin Craig of Stanford will preside over the meeting. Reports of committees appointed to discuss the possible advancements in the teaching of English in northern California will be heard.

Possibility of forming a permanent association of teachers of the region will also be discussed.

SHADOWING the GAELS

By Bud Brady - Ass't. Sports Ed.

November 5, 1937.

Clint Evans,
Head Baseball Coach,
University of California.

Dear Clint—

Say it isn't so! You're not getting as soft as those sweet soprano pipes of yours, are you, Clint?

I refer to a quotation printed in our own COLLEGIAN some weeks ago and accredited as being a statement of yours to the effect that you approved of Saint Mary's entering the Berkeley City League, because, as you so aptly put it, "they'll be playing with more experienced men."

Secretly, Clint, I have always admired you as a "die-hard," a baseball coach who would protest a decision from the drop of the hat till banishment from the game.

Now you are said to approve something which everyone knows you have striven so long to prevent. There is no use crying after one is hurt, it is granted, but why not be consistent, Clint, and go down fighting as usual?

You practically run the baseball conference, and it was through your engineering the rule which says that any student playing on a conference nine may not indulge in athletics of any sort during the school year.

Of course there is always a loophole to a rule, and it seems that the loophole was in favor of you—for a while.

Clint, your intra-fraternity league gave you year-around play and strangely enough found a peculiar fraternity, which possessed all of your first-string varsity men for the coming season, comprising its personnel.

But it seems that there was another loophole. The Phoenix as a unit might play Sunday baseball, because it would be engaging in a school function.

Against the spirit of the law, you say, Clint? That's right. It is against the spirit of the law, but also in parallel with your own attitude toward recognition of that same rule.

If you are going to cry, Clint, do it now. Don't wait until next baseball season, after Earl Sheely's Phoenix whip you three times. By that time you can think up more rules.

Sincerely,
BUD BRADY.

He Picked 'Em

A gentleman named Apitz, the former coach of Pacific, who was succeeded by Mr. Amos Stagg, telegraphed the latter from Louisville, Kentucky, before Saturday's game to the effect he was certain that the Stockton school would defeat or tie Saint Mary's.

Half a Century

There's a movement on foot to celebrate Mr. Stagg's fiftieth year of coaching, which will be posted in 1939, with contests against Chicago and Yale.

It would be a grand break for Mr. Stagg, who would, we believe, have little trouble in defeating his former school, Chicago, considering the way they are faring at present.

Pacific alumni are pursuing the idea.

One Man Band

One Washington gave Cal more trouble last Saturday than eleven Washingtons will tomorrow.

Don Assistant Coach May Go to Loyola

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Al Tassi, assistant coach of the USF Dons, who face Saint Mary's Sunday at Kezar, may be the next head coach at Loyola in Los Angeles, according to "whispers in the dark."

Galloping Gaelets Face U.S.F. Frosh Tonight at Seals Stadium And San Jose on Armistice Day

Meet SJ Yearlings In Martinez Next Thursday at 2 P.M.

Martinez, Nov. 5.—As part of this city's Armistice Day celebration, freshman teams representng Saint Mary's College and San Jose State will clash on the local Alhambra High School athletic field in a special game Thursday afternoon.

Kickoff time has been set for 2 o'clock.

The two elevens are among the best on the Coast, and a hard-fought battle is expected by local fans.

A parade through downtown Martinez will take place in the morning. The football game will conclude the celebration.

This game will be the first ever played between the two rivals.

Undefeated Don Babes Present Better Record

Determined to rise out of the mire of defeat and hurl back Bob Kleckner's undefeated and untied USF freshman eleven, whom they have held in place by ties or wins in past years, the once-defeated Saint Mary's Gaelets trek over to San Francisco's Seals Stadium tonight to battle their San Francisco rivals starting at 8 o'clock.

Coach Gordon Partee plans to throw a powerful offensive and defensive eleven on the gridiron tonight which has one of the biggest lines on the Coast.

Held in readiness in case his first team is unable to stop the only undefeated frosh squad in the Bay region, Partee will send in a strong second string that showed up considerably better than the regulars in the Humboldt game.

Records of tonight's rivals at San Francisco Seals Stadium follow:

USF Frosh

7	Santa Rosa JC	0
6	San Francisco JC	0
13	Santa Clara Frosh	6
18	Riverside JC	13
44		19

Saint Mary's Frosh

30	SF Boys Club	0
40	Salinas JC	7
7	Loyola Frosh	0
6	Humboldt State	21
83		28

Record Speaks

In regards to the caliber of the San Francisco eleven, their past record speaks for itself.

The Don yearlings defeated Santa Rosa, San Francisco, and Riverside junior colleges, and Santa Clara frosh.

Up to the present time Kleckner's team represents the best yearling outfit on the Coast, with the University of Southern California a close second, according to many observers.

The Gaelets were rated right along with them, but because of the Humboldt defeat they are now in third position.

Prep Stars Play

Prep records of the SF squad show up well, with many all-city and league stars.

Pete Breceda, who hails from Santa Monica High, where he made all-Southern California rating, so far this year has been outstanding in every battle, and plays left end.

Bill Telesmaic, a Saint Ignatius graduate, is an excellent pass snagger, having scored five touchdowns on passes this year.

Coach Kleckner is very happy these days, because Tank Hill, 240-pound tackle from Polytechnic, is back in a suit after suffering from an injured leg.

Has 'Charley-Horse'

However, despite the joy around the San Francisco institution, there is also a slight touch of sad news. "Marvelous Marv" Mosconi, Petaluma backfield star, has a "Charlie-horse" in his leg, but probably will see action against the Gaelets.

Probable starting line-ups:

San Francisco—Breceda and Telesmanic, ends; Taylor and Heley, tackles; Spearman and Visentin, guards; Kuhn, center; Pludof, quarterback; Mosconi and Johnstone, halfbacks, and Fisk, fullback.

Saint Mary's—Aguierre and Hartinyk, ends; Mesak and Wilkman, tackles; McGrath and Martinelli, guards; Wells, center; Mazaika, quarterback; Klotovich and Marefos, halfbacks; Starritt, fullback.

PEERLESS PETER PREDICTS:

By Peter Zilch

Three correct, two ties, and one defeat out of six choices was the not too colossal record hung up by your favorite picker in last week's welter of upets and oh-to-oh contests.

The Gallopers at Stockton, the Stanford Indians at Palo Alto, and the weakened Loyola Lions (alibi) at Los Angeles combined to spoil Zilch's practically spotless record. These debacles brought the average down to the .612 mark.

However, the scion of the noble house of Zilch is not a man to be depressed by a few minor reverses. This week's predictions are guaranteed:

Saint Mary's over USF—

Look for the Gaels to be on the upward bound after their surprise of last Saturday. They should be seven points better than George Malley's very lucky Dons.

California over Washington—

Though rated as an early season menace, Washington has shown nothing to indicate that it will trouble the Bears. Cal by fourteen points.

Santa Clara over San Jose—

The Staters have looked very good in their own league, but in meeting Santa Clara they are getting into very fast company. The Broncs by two scores.

USC over Stanford—

The Indians are a very erratic team, sometimes very good and at other times poor. The Trojans seem to have more power and better quarterbacking, so we give them the edge.

Fordham over Purdue—

The Purdue squad has a good record to date against strong teams, but Jimmy Crowley's men seem to have an almost impregnable defense combined with a good attack, so the Rams must be the choice.

Pittsburgh over Notre Dame—

Flesh and blood can stand only so much, and that murderous schedule has given the Ramblers the extremely pleasant task of playing Minnesota and Pittsburgh on successive Saturdays.

UNITED PRESS

Fancy Footwork Despite Muddy Turf

The field was muddy as Stanford and Oregon State battled to a scoreless tie last weekend but that didn't bother Fred Ledeboer, Stanford halfback, in the play shown above. He tangle-footed around Hutchins, but is being brought down by Jay Mercer.

Ernie Jorge Named Varsity Captain for Game With USF

Ernie Jorge, senior guard on the Galloping Gael squad, will be captain of his teammates when they play their annual game with George Malley's Dons of the University of San Francisco next Sunday at Kezar Stadium, it was announced last night.

Jorge, one of Saint Mary's greatest gridiron fighters, according to local coaches, hails from Turlock. He is one of the most active members of the senior class, being a member of the Saint Vincent de Paul and Sanctuary societies.

Ex-Gael Tennis Coach Now Pro in Miami

MIAMI, Florida, Nov. 5—Lloyd Budge, brother of Champion Don, this week was appointed tennis pro at the Miami Country Club. The less famed Budge formerly was tennis coach at Saint Mary's College.

Improved U.S.F. Line May Give Dons First Victory Over Moragans Sunday

'Twas a Nice Gain, but Game Ended in Scoreless Deadlock

One of the frequent Saint Mary's threats in last year's Gael-Don tussle at Kezar came when Lou Rimassa threw a pass to Jim Austin that was completed for a nice gain. Hugh Miles of USF, however, popped up from nowhere and wrapped Jim in a fond embrace—and the game ended in a scoreless tie. The Gaels last week tied Pacific! Will Sunday's tilt be another tie?

Best San Francisco Line Hurdle to Saint Mary's Win In Annual Tussle

Twice tied, once beaten, the Gaels Sunday engage the twice humbled Dons of San Francisco in that city's annual football game between the two rivals.

Four weeks ago the Gaels started on a come-back trail which it was said would find them meeting the Dons in full swing. But chief comebacker has been George Malley's club, defeating Gonzaga and Loyola in its last two contests.

Season records of Sunday's opponents at Kezar Stadium follow:

U. of San Francisco

7	Saint Mary's (Texas)	0
21	Daniel Baker	0
0	Santa Clara	13
7	Montana	13
7	Gonzaga	0
6	Loyola	0
48		26

Saint Mary's

7	California	30
42	Nevada	0
13	Loyola	7
6	Idaho	0
68		37

The USF line for years has been giving Saint Mary's trouble, but has never been given a better chance to beat back the Gaels than in the current season. Their forward wall has improved remarkably and displayed particular potency down south last week.

Loyola Shorthanded

Granted that Loyola was missing four first-string linesmen against the Dons, their replacements were gridders who had been seasoned in earlier games and who were giving away no weight advantage.

Even Coach Tom Leib made little mention of his loss of the "bad boys" for the USF tilt.

Disturbing to Gael partisans was the way Stagg's gridders moved at will against Saint Mary's last Saturday in that final period, a stanza which found Saint Mary's struggling to come out with a tie ball game.

The Gaels were hard pressed to score against Loyola, despite their 13 points. Their touchdowns were not the result of concerted drives, as was the marker recorded by Don Sal Seeno, at the conclusion of a 59-yard rally.

Odds Altered

Again USF was not scored on by the Lions, although an interrupted drive did so for the latter team against the Gaels.

Thus a heavy favorite two weeks ago to drop the Dons, the Gaels appear less fearsome at this writing.

Don linesmen to watch Sunday include Schwartz, a converted end who

Herb Smith Tops Grid Scorers

Tallies 18 Points; Rimassa Follows With 2 Touchdowns

Herb "Whitey" Smith, sophomore fullback, tops the Gael varsity scorers with 18 points, having registered three touchdowns. Behind Smith in second place is "'Rambling Lou" Rimassa, star halfback, with 12 points.

The Moragans have tallied a total of 68 points against six opponents, failing to score against Gonzaga and Pacific.

Varsity scorers follow:

	T.	FG.	P.	Total
Smith, fullback	3	0	0	18
Rimassa, half	2	0	0	12
Ferry, quarterback	0	0	7	7

COP Tigers Tangle With Ramblers Tonight

STOCKTON, Nov. 5.—Tonight at Baxter Stadium, Coach Amos A. Stagg's College of the Pacific gridders tangle with the University of California Ramblers here. The Tigers will be seeking their third win.

'White' Dominant Color of Dazzling New Cage Suits

When the Gael varsity takes the court this winter, the cagers will sport new playing suits and sweat suits, second to none on the Coast, according to Coach Harlan Dykes.

The dominant color in the new outfits is white, The shorts of the playing suits are solid white, with red and blue stripes down the sides, and red-blue belts. White jerseys with the numbers and "Saint Mary's" in blue complete the outfit.

A dazzling combination of colors, the warmup jacket is a real eyeful. Creamy-white, with red sleeves and blue pockets, it offers a departure from the traditional red sweat uppers trimmed in blue. Like the jacket, the sweat pants are creamy-white, elastic waistbands, and red and blue stripes running down the sides.

Practice Daily

Practice is being held daily. Fundamentals—pivoting, pasing, and shooting—are being practiced daily in the gym. After the squads have mastered these fundamentals, practice on offense and defense will begin, Dykes announced.

There are 18 varsity candidates, and six of these are lettermen. As yet, no definite teams have been chosen, but the men who have best mastered the fundamentals will compose the starting quintet, Dykes asserted.

The varsity and frosh schedules have not been completed.

Leading Phoenix Meet Inn Nine

Undefeated Squad To Play Sunday After Short Rest

After a week's layoff because of the playing of a charity game between the major and minor league stars, the Saint Mary's Phoenix meet Mickey's Inn at San Pablo Park on Sunday.

The game will be played at 10 o'clock in the morning instead of the usual time of 2 in the afternoon so as to give the players time to get to the Saint Mary's-USF football game.

Mickey's Inn boast a strong outfit, and although they have lost one game, they have showed considerable strength at bat by their impressive 13 to 2 win over the Orinda Reds two weeks ago.

The Phoenix are still tied for first place in the Berkeley City League with the Albany Merchants.

The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Saint Mary's	2	0	1.000
Albany Merchants	2	0	1.000
O K Batteries	1	1	.500
Mickey's Inn	1	1	.500

Dykes Applies Psychology

By Tom Feeney

"The ability of a basketball player to sink free throws is in direct ratio to his scholastic ability," said Harlan Dykes, new Gael cage coach, yesterday.

What manner of comparison is this? What form of applied psychology is behind it? How can mental ability in the classroom affect the mere physical act of tossing a basketball?

In an exclusive interview with the inimitable Dykes, the COLLEGIAN sought an explanation.

'Nothing to Explain'

"There's nothing to explain," said Dykes. "It is self-explanatory." However, still in the dark, we pursued further and reasoned with the Gael mentor.

"Any man of normal physical strength who is smart, will become a better basketeer than another with equal physical ability who is not as fully developed mentally. This is accepted and needs no proof.

"Following from that, any man with physical coordination can sink a free throw. But in a game when the point is needed and the crowd is excited, a man who has faithfully performed all his assignments in the classroom is cool and confident, not excited or tense, since he has been in trying situations before and has capably pulled through.

Is Logical

"It is logical, for a good, smart man is better than a good man. That principle applies on the court, because a quick-thinking, clever man is of more help than a clever man. Naturally, the physical ability must be equal."

To sum up Dykes' reasoning, the better the man is in scholastic ability, proportionally, the better he will be at sinking free throws.

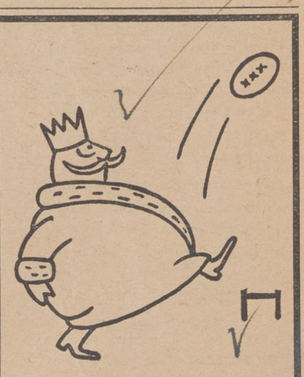

Foul tosses are the basis of the comparison because the man is quite alone, unguarded, and with plenty of time to shoot the ball. Yet, above being a mere physical act, he must be cool mentally; he must have assurance and confidence, which comes from higher scholastic ability and experience.

Consults Records

"If I had two men on my ball club equal in every way on the court, and had to choose one over the other, I would consult the school records and select the smarter man. It is the only fair thing to do; fair to me and fair to them.

"I like smart ball players—cool, cocky, and confident ones. The more clever thinking players on the squad, the better the results.

"A smart team can drub a physically superior outfit nearly every time by using tactics which force the opponents to play in any manner they want them to. Cases of this are easily evident. And so you see why I make that statement!"

Senior Class Sponsors Motion Pictures

Plan to Erect 'SM' On Hill Directly Behind Chapel

Erection of an "SM" on the hill directly behind the chapel and sponsoring motion pictures on the campus were the chief topics discussed in the second meeting of the senior class, held last Wednesday.

It was pointed out by Wyman Riley, COLLEGIAN editor, that motion pictures could be obtained through Father Schmitt, who exhibited pictures on the campus last week, for a nominal cost, and that with some student cooperation the project could be succesfully undertaken. A committee, composed of Coleman Kezeli and Vic Wilkiemeyer, is to arrange for selection of the picture to be shown on next Wednesday in Dante Hall.

Tony Boehle

Tony Boehle in charge of designing the SM, reported that it would be constructed of brick and that each letter would be 10 feet broad and 18 long. The letters themselves would be two feet thick.

Boehle said that his brothers were willing to lay the brick. The $20 for materials was voted unanimously. The letters will be set in stagger style, with the S slightly higher than the M, to set the combination off to a better degree.

Jerry Seale and Bill Yost were delegated to survey the site and the class decided to clear the ground. The project will be a donation to the school from the senior class. It was suggested that an amendment to the constitution be made to the effect that each year a certain class be required to whitewash or paint the monument.

President Jenkins announced that a representative from the Balfour Company would be around to make any adjustments for those who wanted their last names in full on their rings instead of merely the initials.

Taylor Bedilion, treasurer, revealed that there was $30 in the class treasury, but that it would be over $200 when all the Gael bills were collected.

ALUMNI NOTES

Annual Dinner Dance

The demand for reservations for the annual football dinner dance far surpasses that of previous years, according to an announcement from the Alumni Association. From the interest which has been displayed to date, it is judged that this season's affair will be one of the most successful social events held under auspices of the Alumni Association.

The executive director, C. Wesley Davis, requests that all members make their reservations early in order that adequate facilities may be planned. Tickets must be secured from Mr. Davis' office, 941 Monadnock Building, 681 Market Street, San Francisco. The price is 2.50 per person.

Especially gratifying to the committee is the response from out-of-town members, many of whom already have signified their intention of being in attendance. The committee had these members in mind when planning the dance and decided to hold it the evening before the Little Big Game, thus enabling visiting alumni to make their visit a gala weekend.

Chairman George McKeever has announced that music will be furnished by Al Lamanet, popular San Francisco orchestra leader.

Alumni are urged to make reservations with Mr. Davis at an early date, as a large group of alumni and their friends are expected.

The place, of course, is the Elks' Club in San Francisco and the date, Saturday evening, November 13, the night before the Saint Mary's-Santa Clara game.

Los Angeles Unit Active

The Los Angeles Unit of the Alumni Association is to be congratulated upon the fine work they are doing in the Southland.

Bob Moy, president of the unit, reports that the press conference, held on the evening before the Saint Mary's-Loyola game, was a huge success.

More than one hundred alumni members were present at the meeting, which was held at the Hotel Biltmore, to hear Slip Madigan and other members of the coaching staff forecast the game.

The Los Angeles group is one of the most active local units in the association and they are doing excellent work in all branches of alumni activity.

Lawyer Returns

John Meany '28, San Francisco attorney, has just returned from a business trip to the East Coast. John, who is an ardent Gael supporter, has been giving his friends among the alumni an official report on eastern football.

Board of Directors Meets

The Board of Directors held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, November 2, in San Francisco.

The group met for dinner at Maison Paul Grill to discuss many important items of business. Among the subjects discussed were plans for alumni participation in the Diamond Jubilee Celebration and the program for the annual Universal Saint Mary's Night.

Sanctuary Society Posts Schedule

Weekly List to Appear In Collegian

A definite schedule was assigned to members of the Sanctuary Society this week by Vic Wilkiemeyer, president. According to Wilkiemeyer, each member must appear at the appointed time, or notify the other members if unable to be present.

The schedule as announced is:

Week of November 7, through 13—Sunday: first Mass, Orth and Giannon:, (2) Nuetzel and E. Jorge.

Monday: B. McDonald, Cavanaugh, Nuetzel. Tuesday: B. McDonald, Cavanaugh, Nuetzel.

Wednesday: Orth and Giannoni.

Thursday: E. Jorge and Englert, O'Laughlin. Friday: E. Jorge and Englert, O'Laughlin.

Saturday: Orth and Giannoni.

Tuesday Benediction: Nanfito, Kezeli, Walsh, Madden.

According to Wilkiemeyer, the third member of the week-day group will serve Father Duffy, the first two serving Father Manning. A schedule will be published each week in the COLLEGIAN, it was stated.

The Sanctuary Society is one of the oldest organizations on the campus. Its members assist at all religious functions. Those now in the organization are: Seniors: Karl Orth, John Giannoni, Henry Nuetzel, Leo Englert, Jack Madden, John Costa, Jim Walsh, Coleman Kezeli, Ernie Jorge, and Larry Minahen. Juniors: Bill Dooms and Charles Nanfito. Sophomores: Tom O'Laughlin, Jim Butler, Ray Moffit, and Bill Miller. Freshmen: Cavanaugh, Stewart, McDonald, Egan, Crowley, Weber, and Meyers.

'Religious Educator' Makes Annual Appearance Here

The Religious Educator, magazine for teachers of the Christian Brothers schools, entered its sixth year of publication with its November issue which appeared on the campus this week.

Edited by Brother Alfred and Brother Pious, the magazine contains articles on the activities of the various Christian Brothers schools as well as stories of religious interest to members of the Christian Brothers order.

Brother Alfred is head of the School of Science at Saint Mary's and Brother Pious is acting director of novices at Mont LaSalle.

vestments of the Church's Mass for the dead. The Student Brothers Choir under direction of Father Jean Ribeyron, will sing the Mass.

The Armistice sermon will be preached by the Reverend James J. Walsh, pastor of Saint Dominic's Church of San Francisco.

At noon, a special faculty and student body luncheon will be held and the group will be addresed by Edwin A. Heafey, Oakland attorney, who will make a plea for world peace.

Saint Mary's furnished 856 men in the war, including 200 commissioned officers in the army and navy. The College also maintained a unit of Student Officers Training Corps in which 200 students were enrolled, and was among the first colleges in the nation to put scholarships at the disposal of the government for the benefit of disabled soldiers.

Improvements Made On Campus

The campus landscape is having its face lifted this week.

Clarence Hamilton, local landscape gardener, is supervising work on the garden plots directly in front of the Center Dormitory, but other projects are being carried on at the same time.

Waterproofing of the gymnasium was accomplished during the past week, bushes on the shores of Lake LaSalle were removed, and the newly planted grass infield of the baseball diamond was given its second cutting.

Lawn will be planted in the two large areas near Center Dormitory, while English pansies have been substituted for the bushes which were formerly directly in front of the dormitory.

Tunnel Road May Be Re-Named

Martinez—If the historic old Tunnel Road between Oakland and Walnut Creek is to be renamed Mt. Diablo Boulevard it will be a matter for the public to decide, it was announced yesterday by County Clerk Sam C. Wells.

He pointed out that the road was once changed to Golden Gate Way by county ordinance in 1892. Common usage failed to recognize this name so it "died on the records," Wells said.

Brother James Gives Talk Before Transbay Academy

Brother James, dean-recorder of the College, was guest speaker at a luncheon of the San Francisco Academy held yesterday in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco.

The topic of Brother James' talk was "How Our Catholic Colleges Can Function Better in Social Life." He dealt with various ways in which Catholic college can become a more potent force in social life.

The San Francisco Academy is an organization of Catholic professional men of San Francisco and includes in its membership some of the most important men in the fields of medicine, the law, and engineering.

The organization meets once a month at the Palace Hotel for luncheon at which vital problems of the day are discussed. The usual procedure of the meetings is to have one of the members present a paper and have it discussed by the other members. On occasion, distinguished outside speakers are invited to address the group.

Gael Photos Taken Here Next Monday

Students Will Be Excused From Classes for Sitting

Individual portraits of students for the 1938 Gael will be taken in Galileo Hall beginning Monday, November 8. As in past years, students will be excused from classes at the time of their appointment, according to John Sullivan, editor of the yearbook.

If a student does not attend the class at the hour of his appointment, for reasons other than having his picture taken, he will be registered with a cut, according to the recorder's office.

John Sullivan

Herschel Smythe, photography editor of the 1938 Gael, emphasized the fact that every Saint Mary's man should have his photograph in the annual.

"Even if a student does not plan to purchase a Gael, it is his duty to the remainder of the student body to see that the yearbook is an official record of Saint Mary's College in the year 1938. This it cannot be without the portrait of every student in the College," Smythe stated at a meeting of the Gael staff on Monday.

Coleman Photos Again

Photography for the 1938 Gael will be done by the Coleman Studios of Oakland, the firm that has done the yearbook photo work for several years in the past. Four views will be taken of each student from which he may take a choice for appearance in the Gael. The fee for pictures in the Gael is 50 cents per student, and must be paid before the student is entitled to have his picture taken for the Gael.

Lists, containing complete information, have been posted on the bulletin boards of the campus. Students will consult these lists to ascertain time of their appointment with the photographer, according to Gael editors John Sullivan and William Kirkham.

The yearbook is scheduled to appear early in the spring.

Free and Easy

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S administration has been subjected to a storm of criticism because of its free spending tactics. Billions have been spent lavishly to the growing alarm of the citizenry. From present indications it seems evident that our own Ex Council, that is, those of it who take the trouble to attend the meetings, is doing its best to emulate the policies of the national administration. Naturally, the resources at its command are not as large as those of the United States treasury, but, nevertheless, it is doing its best with the materials at hand.

With the year not half over, the Ex Council is doing its best to dissipate the funds necessary to carry the student body through the year. Appropriations are passed right and left with no consideration for the merits of the demand. It has reached the point where the few members who show up for the weekly meetings start shouting "aye" as soon as the word appropriation is mentioned.

So far the yell leaders have been the most successful, but that is only because they were the first on the ground; but now the word is out, and it won't be long before every group on the campus demands its share of the pie.

The Ex Council is supposed to be the representative of the students for the administration of student affairs and funds. Yet most of the members do not even bother themselves to attend the meetings; and those who do attend have no appreciation of their responsibility.

If the free and easy Ex Councillors do not cease their philanthropic tactics the student body will find itself financially strapped next semester. It is up to every class to see that its representatives attend the meetings and show at least reasonable intelligence in their voting.

Students at Fault

SHOULD the campus barber shop close after the Christmas holidays, as is indicated by an announcement by the management this week, the blame may be placed directly upon the students. Lack of support will be the cause of closing, for students, though they seek credit from the local shop, will not consistently patronize it.

The fact that the school needs such a service is obvious. Much discomfort and inconvenience will result if the shop is closed, though this fact will be more apparent as time goes on. Every convenience is offered to the students; long hours are kept that students may be accommodated on special occasions; prompt and efficient service is always courteously given; and "Mac" is always willing to extend credit to regular patrons.

It is quite probable that students will do nothing about the situation. And it is also quite probable that a howl will rise after the shop closes. Let it be remembered when that happens that students had an opportunity to support the local barber and to keep a necessary campus service. Such a service is of value and convenience to all—we suggest the support of the entire student body that we may be able to keep it on the campus.

The Gaels Can Win

USF HILLTOPPERS, bolstered in spirit by the "peerless prognosticators of the press," will be out to win their first victory from the Gaels next Sunday. Ever since "Bloody Saturday," hope has stirred the hearts of the Dons, for from all indications, Saint Mary's was on the down grade.

Looking over the record, however, we are inclined to be a little skeptical. Two scoreless ties and one defeat are the basis for many assumptions. The defeat at the hands of California, heralded as a sort of miracle, does not appear so miraculous now. No team on the Coast will beat California this season, and there is no team on the Coast that can.

To tie Gonzaga, considering everything, was good playing. To tie Pacific was not expected, but hardly grounds for condemnation of a fighting team—we're speaking of the second half.

The Gaels this year have been crippled by a shortage of material. They have fought against injuries, bad breaks, and some good teams. The record is nothing to which we point with pride under ordinary circumstances, but considering all things, it very definitely is a credit to a fighting team.

Perhaps the Gaels will lose, for such things happen. But no matter whether they win, lose, or draw, Saint Mary's College and her friends will admire them for being a spirited club. They don't quit. And it is for that very reason that Sunday should see a rooting section with just half as much spirit as the team they're cheering.

Support the Gaels as they support you, and they can win.

Moraga Musings

A rumor to the effect that the next step in reorganization, instituted by a department of the administration, will be a supervised study period presided over by Thomas "Over-Cut" Twomey, is denied by Double-Tom himself.

Tom-tom is a great believer in "a new broom sweeps clean," especially since he himself was never subjected to the same treatment now being handed out. In those ancient days people really believed that college students were men. Tom, if given a chance, will conclusively prove this to be all stuff and nonsense. . . . if given a chance.

●

It is also rumored about the campus that a high-stepping "beef trust" will make its appearance at a rally to be held soon. The purpose, according to reports, is to raise classical dancing to a new high. The leading performers signed for the occasion are Richard Reginald Hilken, a good man in his weigh, "Rumble Seat" Nanfito, and "Butch" Bedilion. The "Twin Sticks" Andrade and Laird may also be signed. The Minsky in the case is the patriarch of Moraga, Gene McSweeney.

●

Seen in Stockton: Bill "Bones" Kirkham engrossed in one of the fairer of the fairer sex. . . Hank Nuetzel sporting a form-fitting Gael jersey on the main stem. . . Ernie Russo being taught how to truck on down. . . Thug McIntyre visiting a young old friend. . . and what unostentatious Phoenix outfielder was seen purchasing lip-stick?

●

Reports have it that there was a large turnout of heavyweight contenders for the coveted Harris Trophy in Stockton, for tradition's sake only, of course. . . Walt O'Connor was unanimously declared the winner.

Outlooks and Insights

The Thing Called Poise

ONCE a young man gets beyond the clowning stage, once he comes to realize that the prizes in life—prizes spiritual, social, material—do not go as a rule to either the boor or the booby, he seeks to cultivate that inner balance of emotions which externally manifests itself in what is known as poise. The man with poise makes the best of every situation. He is pilot of his fate, captain of his soul.

Now there are three kinds of poise. The first and cheapest is an imitation of the real thing. You play the sedulous ape to people who have poise. You imitate their tones, their gestures, their inflections, even their manner of laughing and walking. If your models are worth imitating, you are not altogether losing your time; but the resultant poise will never wear very well on you, and you can't depend upon it in a crisis. At best it is a hand-me-down garment.

Another kind of poise we observe in people who are coarse-grained, thick-skinned and lacking in delicacy and refinement of manners. They are at ease, alas, because they are lacking in sensibility, and their ease is often a fearful thing to contemplate. Fellows like that would sprawl insolently in the presence of the Queen of Sheba, ask Shakespeare "Whatcha writin' these days, Bill?" and when granted an audience with the Pope like as not would mumble "Pleased tuh meetcha." They don't realize how very terrible they are. They say tactless things, do painful things, get on everybody's nerves; and then they wonder why people don't like them.

The third sort of poise is the real thing. It springs from inner serenity which in turn is the result of secret battles bravely fought, hidden sacrifices freely made, unobtrusive acts of kindness done with no hope of recognition. It springs from the habit of meditation, from good reading, from intimate association with good music and good art. Especially it comes from intercourse with civilized and cultivated men and women.

The man possessed of true poise, as Lord Acton once wrote, is never shocked at the fall of an idol or the disclosure of a skeleton in somebody's closet. Rudeness in others does not surprise or grieve him. He knows his way around. He knows that ideals are important; but he also knows that the ideals honored by the majority of mankind are not exalted ones. He observes that in the paths of preferment the man who climbs and the man who crawls assume almost identical attitudes. Seeing beyond the mere shows of things, his true source of repose and happiness is in things unseen.

For Boys And Girls

THE most recent and most sorely needed of book clubs is Pro Parvulis, a book service catering to the reading tastes of children. A competent committee, including four priests, three Sisters, and such representative writers as Padraic Colum, Agnes Repplier, William Heyliger and Alan ("Cap") Drady of San Francisco decide upon a monthly selection of books "to grow on." Membership costs three cents a day. Subscribers, by paying ten dollars for a year's service secure the carefully chosen books at approximately $1.65 each, a considerable reduction over the prevailing retail price.

Parents and teachers will find Pro Parvulis a godsend. The club solves a problem frequently acute in families and schools. The experts in charge know what children like to read, what books are salutary and just what books are being currently published.

College students laudably intent on making a little pin money might do worse than take a hand in making Pro Parvulis better known. An inquiry addressed to Mr. Alan Drady, 1219 Empire State Building, New York City, will bring a copy of The Pro Parvulis Herald, the club magazine, and details of the liberal commissions given associates of the movement.

"And Never The Twain Shall Meet?"

TO STUDENTS impressed with the universality of philosophy, literature and the arts, I joyfully offer this illuminating excerpt from The News Letter of San Francisco:

"At the stroke of midnight one night last week a great Chinese gong was struck in a Chinatown cocktail lounge. The solemn, age-old vibration stilled clamor to hush. An ancient Celestial bent over a Chinese stringed instrument—an age-blackened sounding box with long goose neck.

" 'It's from a Chinese temple,' someone whispered.

" 'Only he can play it,' another murmured in awe.

"The audience tensed its nerves for queer, tingling quarter-tones.

"The Chinese raised a bland old face and played—'When Irish Eyes Are Smiling.' "

First Night

I HAVE often read with interest the accounts of gigantic Hollywood premiere performances, with their glittering processions of glamorous stars, gleaming polished cars, and milling crowds of autograph seekers. The other evening at a local cinema palace I witnessed the first unveiling of one of Hollywood's super epics.

It was not, however, one of those publicized premieres replete with searchlights and floral horseshoes, although, there were two limousines parked in front of the theatre attended by liveried chauffeurs; and I gathered from the widespread comments of the small knot of people collected around them—incidentally in the group were some of my schoolmates waiting with shining expectant faces—that some of those ethereal creatures from the Never Never Land of Hollywood were in the audience.

In spite of this visitation of the gods, this could not have been called in the strictest sense of the word a real premiere, but rather what the movie moguls would term a "sneak prevue." It is a sort of trial run by which the producers check the reaction of the audience, and determine if any changes or cutting are necessary before they release the film for its regular run.

In this case from the chuckles of my neighbors and the way in which the gentleman behind me would slap his knee at certain features of the dialogue, hitting me on the head on the downward arc, it is probable that the producers considered the reception of their efforts very favorable.

"True Confession" was the title; the stars, Fred MacMurray, Carole Lombard, and John Barrymore. It was a farce, featuring the well-worn courtroom angle, but with rather amusing variations. Perhaps of most interest was the comparative performances of Fred MacMurray and John Barrymore. Or, on the other hand, one might say there was no comparison. MacMurray's acting was definitely porky.

Barrymore with hardly more than a "bit," appearing in only a very few scenes, built his minor role of the eccentric courtroom hanger-on into one of the major features of the production. Walk, gesture, facial expression, inflection of the voice, every bit of material at his command was utilized by him to turn out a masterful piece of acting. Barrymore has again demonstrated that a real actor can make a silky performance even out of the sows' ears that Hollywood calls plots.

Advice to Saint Mary's Men:

Ask a girl to talk. . . . if she's talkative
Ask a girl to walk. . . . if she's walkative
Ask a girl to dance. . . . if it's permissable
But never ask to kiss her. . . . if she's kissable.

Hope

Father: "You say you want to marry my daughter? Well, have you seen her mother?"

Suitor (falteringly): "Why, yes; but daughters don't always grow up to look like their mothers."

●

Another of the Same Type:

Father: "Son, it is about time that we talked about the facts of life."

Son: "Delighted, father. What is it you would like to know?"

According to a recent article in the LAJC Collegian, men like their women to be like a cigaret—warm, smooth, slender, and white—they also desire them to satisfy, to give a lift and not to irritate. Finally, although they like them to be easily discarded—they don't want them to burn up.

Moraga Lament

The moon was white,
The road was dark—
A perfect place
To stop and park.

I gave a sigh,
I gave a moan,
I cursed the fates—
I was alone!
